

Angela Lopell Dixon

Happy Birthday, May 21st

Our precious, beautiful daughter. You are gone but you will never, ever be forgotten. The first birthday without you, but I know you are celebrating with Jesus and your Dad, Woody.
Sadly missed by your mother, Levaron Dixon

Remembering Mom

Memories crowd my mind as I sit here trying to find the ones most precious about the days gone by and my Mom who was always dear and kind.

She gave so much to us kids that her tears she sometimes hid and that is why we love her still and always makes our hearts glow.

But we know to whom glory it goes. God knows we would need a loving Mother because a Dad He knew we would not have.

So God made her strong and she always seemed to hang on. The burdens were great but she never did break for the God she trusted. He is so great!

Beulah with her young family.

Soon after Dad's death from an automobile accident she had us going to church and sitting on the front pew. It was there she introduced us to Jesus Christ, the God of all comfort, joy and peace, but most importantly eternal life that gives us hope in this life and the life to come. We are eternally grateful. Her legacy still lives on in the lives of her children and grandchildren.

Rogers is recognized by Gatton Academy

The Gatton Academy of Mathematics and Science in Kentucky recently recognized 22 educators from across the Commonwealth, including Callie Rogers, counselor for Estill County Schools, for their support of high ability students. The educators were recognized at the program's May 2 Commencement in WKU's Diddle Arena at Bowling Green, Ky. The Gatton Academy established the Gatton Academy Educator Recognition Program in 2018 to acknowledge and celebrate the support students receive from teachers, counselors, gifted and talented specialists, and principals along their educational journeys. Educators play key roles in encouraging students to develop their strengths, explore topics of interest, and set lofty goals. (See school's proclamation on Page 14)

RAVENNA CITIZENS OF THE MONTH

Don & Evelyn Brandenburg Williams

"Turn everything over to the Master and everything will be alright!" This advice is the common thread that has knit Don Williams and Evelyn (Pet) Brandenburg Williams together for 63 years of married life. They have lived in Ravenna 58 years. Don began his career with Columbia Gas in 1955 and retired in 1998 after 43 years of service. Pet has been a homemaker all her life. They have a daughter Donetta and son Terry. They are also grandparents to Riley Birchfield, Megan Williams, and Lexi Tiller. Jaden Birchfield is their great grandson. Also, thank you, Don, for stopping by City Hall to check on us during the recent flooding, and to encourage us as we were helping others. Congratulations to the April & May Ravenna Citizens of the Month!
