Maudie's Naughties

Marriage and Romance

A father is explaining to his son just before the son's marriage, what the son could be looking forward to.

He says, "Son, in the very beginning, it's tri-weekly. After you've been married ten years or so, it's try weekly. But then after your silver anniversary, it's try weakly."

Auction

A lady goes to an auction and finds something she wants more than anything else. It is a parrot, and she decides to bid for it. The bids go higher and higher, but finally she gets the bird for $350.00. Then it suddenly occurs to her that she hasn't found out the most important thing about the bird.

"Does it talk?" she asks the auctioneer.

The auctioneer smiles, "Who do you think was bidding against you?"

Fast Flying

Two eagles are soaring along when suddenly a passenger jet screams past them.

One eagle says to the other, "Wow, did you see how fast that thing was moving?"

The other replies, "Yeah. You'd move fast, too, if you had three butt holes and they're all on fire."

Sharing

An elementary school teacher is asking students what their parents do for a living. Timmy stands up and says, "My mom is a doctor!" Sarah stands up and says, "My father is a pharmacist!" Brandon stands up and says, "My dad is a piano player in a house of ill repute!"

The teacher can't believe what she's just heard, so she calls Brandon's father that evening to discuss the situation. He explains, "Actually, I'm a Washington politician. That's not cool these days, even to a seven year old kid!"

Siamese Kitten

Bambi and Mitzi are on an elevator when a man enters with a kitten in his arms.

"What a cute little cat," says Mitzi.

"Yes," says the man and adds, "It's a Siamese, you know."

Bambi looks at the kitten for a moment and then asks... "So, where's the other one?"

Confident Lion

An old philosophical fable tells us there once lived a lion who was so self-confident and ferocious that he devoured a bull. Having succeeded in this incredible feat gave him such confidence that he roared. A hunter, having heard the lion's roar, promptly shot him. The moral of this fable is abundantly clear, "If you're full of bull, keep your mouth shut."

Two Cows

Two cows are standing in the middle of a pasture. One turns to the other and says, "Moo!"

The second looks at the first and says, "Dang! I was just about to say that!"

New Bull

At the end of the workday, one cowboy tells another, "That new bull nearly did me in today, partner."

"Oh yeah, what happened?"

"I was putting out the feed, when the sucker came charging at me like a locomotive. He danged near got me!"

"So, how'd you get away?"

The bull kept slipping. He slipped three times, and that gave me a chance to make it to the fence and jump over."

"Man, that's scary. If it'd been me, I would probably have messed myself all over the place."

"I DID! What do you think that bull was slipping in?"

Choice of Words

A man visits his next door neighbor and is amazed to see his tomcat playing the piano.

"That's amazing! What song is he playing?"

"I don't know. He made it up."

"It sounds great. You should have it orchestrated!"

Hearing this the tomcat runs away and is never seen again.

Love And Marriage

A woman who had been married and divorced four times is invited by a friend to go hear a professor from the local college speak on love and marriage. She listens intently. Afterwards, her friend asks her what she thought of the lecture.

"Well," she says, "I wish I knew as little about the subject as he does."

Washing The Car

Two birds in a tree look down on a man washing his car.

"If he doesn't hurry up and finish," says one bird to the other, "I'll mess all over myself."

Letter to the Editor

Two Meaningful Recognition Weeks

Dear Editor:

Last week, Marcum & Wallace Hospital celebrated two meaningful recognition weeks. National Hospital Week and Nurses Week give us a time to thank the nearly 200 individuals who are invested in caring from the heart every day of the year. They are committed to providing access to compassionate, high quality care and outstanding services when they are needed.

From providing medical care in the hospital and our primary care clinics to running vital programs in our community, Marcum & Wallace Hospital is committed in supporting the health and well-being around the region.

On behalf of Marcum & Wallace Hospital, I want to thank the dedicated individuals - providers, employees, board members, volunteers, and all, for choosing to share your passions and talents here.

I would also like to thank you, our patients, for choosing Marcum & Wallace Memorial Hospital for your healthcare needs; because with your support, we can fulfill our mission of creating a stronger, healthier community.

Sincerely, Rodney Davis,
Chairman, Marcum & Wallace Memorial Hospital,
Board of Directors
