Main Street flooded Saturday near the construction site after a heavy downpour. Water poured down the hospital hill, washing out flower beds and mulch, while leaving a trail of mud. Mayor W.J. Noland tried to get rid of the construction company, with no luck. Photo courtesy of Myra Williams

Volunteers and city employees waded standing water on Saturday to unstop drains on Main Street near the construction site. The water washed out temporary drives. River Drive also had water after the heavy rain as did several county roads, including Dark Hollow and Traylor Road.
